Roy Dombeck; PGA Teaching Professional

Roy brings a wealth of knowledge in teaching, club fitting, and tournament competition. As a player, he competed on the Coastal Carolina, Hogan, and Tear Drop Tours. Roy has attended the Golf Works Academy and is certified in professional club repair. He also is certified at the Mitchell Golf Institute in their "Club-Performance Fitting School" and their "Club Repair Technician School." His program at Chapel Hill Golf Club in McHenry, IL. produced a championship in the IPGA Pro Junior. Two of his students from these programs have gone on to be golf professionals. Most of Roy's teaching techniques and philosophy come from his experiences with the John Jacobs Golf Schools, The Dave Pelz Short Game Schools and The Pinehurst Golf Academy. Phone: 847-934-8478. Email: rdombeck@pga.com.

Scott Hogan; PGA Teaching Professional

PGA – TPI Certified, 2014 GRAA Top 50 Teaching Professional Award Winner.

Growing up in Plainfield, IL Scott graduated from Arizona State University after studying Sociology and Psychology. Scott began his teaching career shortly after and has spent over 10 years traveling and learning from some of the game's greatest teachers. His philosophy is to develop an entire golfer through evaluating their goals, physical capabilities and swing style to be able to allow them to shoot their best scores possible.

Bob Gates; Instructor

Bob is a long time resident of Oak Lawn and an established professional golf instructor. Bob has 23 years of professional teaching experience, as well as 27 years as a high school golf coach. Bob has taught all levels of instruction from youth to adult, and from beginner to a scratch golfer. Bob's teaching philosophy is very friendly. Keep it simple and adapt it to the individual's abilities:

1. Build everything in the learning process around sound fundamentals.
2. Establish a good student/instructor line of communication.
3. Keep it fun and enjoyable.

It is his belief that putting a student in an environment where these conditions will exist will create a strong mental approach and enhance the rate of learning.
